Dear Colleagues,

Following a campus wide search process for the position of Interim Dean of Counseling Programs and Services, I am pleased to announce that Dr. Maryann Tolano-Leveque has accepted the invitation to serve in an interim role as Dean of Counseling Programs and Services, beginning Wednesday, February 22, 2023.

As interim dean, Dr. Tolano-Leveque will work with campus stakeholders and our counseling team to support existing programs and initiatives while providing day to day leadership of the division for the remainder of 2023.

Dr. Tolano-Leveque is an accomplished professional, educator, and leader with over two decades experience in student affairs administration. During her time at Citrus College, she has launched and developed numerous programs and services which have enhanced the student experience with a focus on equity including but not limited to our Basic Needs Center, Dream Resource Center, Pride Center and Ally training series. In her oversight of our student disciplinary processes, she has served as a valuable resource to faculty and staff while advocating appropriately for our students in a fair and impartial manner. Our Veterans Success Center and Student Health Center continue to thrive and expand services and support under her leadership despite the challenges the pandemic presented to these critical student support programs.

Dr. Tolano-Leveque is well positioned to further the important work of our Counseling division over the next ten months, as we prepare for a permanent search in the Fall of 2023. Please join me in welcoming her in her role as Interim Dean of Counseling Programs and Services.
