We adopted Stormy when he was five years old from a former co-worker

He's a super sweet and loving cat and very patient with the little kids

His only real bad habit is that he likes to nibble on people's toes

We once grew him some cat grass to snack on but he took that as an invitation to eat the rest of our plants too

He has knocked down approximately 15 slats off our venetian blinds

He is persistent in escaping out of the apartment down the hall

OK, he has one more bad habit but we still love him very much
