HOBBIES/INTERESTS

Eric loves writing and does it whenever he gets a chance. He is a published poet and used to write songs and poems much more often. However, recently he is in the throes of writing and rewriting his first novel, a young adult fantasy story about a pair of siblings who go on a quest to discover the true nature of their parents' disappearance.

FUN FACT!

Eric took three years of high school Spanish, including AP Spanish as a junior and two years of Spanish in college and yet is an English teacher.
