Message from the Superintendent/President

At Citrus College, examples of institutional excellence abound. There's the variety and quality of the academic programs, the wealth of student resources and the sheer beauty of our "right-sized" campus. But ultimately, our success is measured in the ever-growing number of students who achieve their academic goals and enter rewarding professions or transfer to four-year universities to continue their education.

As featured in the Citrus College 2015-2016 Annual Report, there are many ways to cultivate student success. First and foremost, it takes dedicated and caring faculty and staff members, such as our 2016 Distinguished Faculty Award Recipient Gail Tucker, who continually seeks new and better ways to engage students in the classroom, and staff members Dr. Monica Christianson and Ms. Lillian Sass, who will always find time to answer a student's question, assist with a problem, and provide words of advice and encouragement.

While the college measures its success in terms of student achievement and completion, its institutional excellence was also recognized by respected members of the higher education community. Citrus College was designated a "Champion for Higher Education" by the Campaign for College Opportunity, and it was selected as one of two community colleges in the state to receive a Student Success Award from the California Community Colleges Chancellor's Office. Citrus College was also honored to sign a historic transfer admission guarantee with the University of La Verne.

More important, in 2015-2016, students succeeded at levels surpassing any in college history. In a special section of this report, you will learn about some of these remarkable achievements, as well as some of the records that were set by this accomplished cohort.

I am continually impressed by the enthusiasm of the board of trustees and the faculty, staff and students who are eager to work with local leaders, collaborate with our education partners, and advocate on behalf of the college and the communities we serve.

Equally noteworthy are the accomplishments of the Citrus College Foundation, whose members took on a number of important initiatives in 2015-2016. Highlights include the awarding of a record number of scholarships and providing resources for innovative programs that will increase completion rates across the college's student population.

On behalf of Citrus College, I would like to thank the members of our communities, our elected officials, our generous Foundation donors and all those who consider themselves "friends" of the college. We are motivated and inspired by your support, and we consider you to be a vital contributor to our success!

Geraldine M. Perri, Ph.D.
Superintendent/President
Citrus College

Community

For over 100 years, Citrus College has been a driving force in the San Gabriel Valley. As an educational leader and active community partner, the college has long been committed to meeting the needs of the cities and citizens it serves. Our annual outreach efforts include partnerships with local school districts, involvement with community organizations, participation on advisory boards and councils, community events, interaction with elected officials, and more. These activities serve as excellent opportunities for community members to gain insight into the many valuable resources available at Citrus College.

Superintendent/President Perri addressed an estimated crowd of 1,000 people at the combined dedication of the Azusa Downtown and APU/Citrus College Gold Line stations in the fall of 2015.

Celebrating the “Brain Train”

In a journey spanning more than a dozen years, Segment II of the Foothill Extension of the Metro Gold Line reached its destination with the dedication of the Azusa Downtown and APU/Citrus College Gold Line stations in September 2015.

Superintendent/President Dr. Geraldine M. Perri was one of the officials invited to speak at the celebration, which drew an estimated crowd of 1,000 people. “I am very proud of the role Citrus College has played in bringing this segment of the Gold Line to the college,” she said. “The entire college community, including students, faculty, staff and board members, has been tireless in promoting the Gold Line as a way to improve access to higher education for thousands of people both in and beyond the San Gabriel Valley.”

For more than a decade, Citrus College advocated on behalf of the Gold Line by lobbying legislators in Washington, D.C., writing letters to elected officials, authoring opinion columns for media outlets, hosting Gold Line events on campus and speaking before the Metro Board in Los Angeles.

Supporting Dual Enrollment Legislation

Dr. Perri and Trustee Susan M. Keith were recognized by Assemblymember Chris Holden for their effective advocacy and support of AB 288, the College and Career Access Pathways Partnerships Act, during a signing celebration at Pasadena City College in November 2015. This important legislation, which was signed in October 2015 and went into effect in January 2016, fosters partnerships between high schools and community colleges, enabling a broader range of students to take college-level courses at their high schools or on a college campus. Citrus College is an established leader in these types of partnerships, which are often referred to as early college programs, or as concurrent or dual enrollment.

Superintendent/President Perri and Trustee Keith joined Assemblymember Holden and representatives from Southern California community colleges in celebrating the signing of AB 288.

Collaborating with K-12 Educators

In March 2016, board of education members, superintendents, high school principals and school administrators from the college's K-12 school district partners attended the annual K-14 Education Forum at Citrus College to learn more about the topic, "Dual Enrollment Partnerships and Models, as Provided for by the College and Career Access Pathways Partnerships Act, AB 288." During the breakfast meeting, Citrus College board members, administrators, deans and faculty discussed ways to provide dual enrollment opportunities for students in the college's feeder districts. California Community Colleges Vice Chancellor Vincent W. Stewart, who worked extensively on the bill, outlined details of the new legislation and answered questions from the audience.

Honoring War Heroes

Citrus College hosted a reception in November 2015 honoring Mr. Helge J. Heimdahl and Mr. Howard E. Dobbs for their brave deeds during World War II. The reception took place prior to the final performance of the Theater Arts Department's sold-out production of "The Ehiphany," an original play written by faculty member Dr. Bruce Solheim. Set against the backdrop of the Nazi occupation of Norway during World War II, the play tells the story of a heroic young woman who struggled to keep her family together and uphold her dignity in the face of malevolent forces. During the war, both Mr. Heimdahl and Mr. Dobbs experienced the tragedy of Nazi occupation first hand. Mr. Heimdahl was a Norwegian citizen who became a resistance fighter, while Mr. Dobbs was an American soldier who helped liberate Norway. Reception guests included relatives of the two men, elected officials and their representatives, college leaders, and Honorary Consul H. Michael Sorory of the Royal Norwegian Consulate.

Enhancing Communication with Law Enforcement

The Citrus College Department of Campus Safety, in partnership with the Glendora Police Department (GPD), hosted Coffee with a Cop in April 2016. During this two-hour event, students, employees and community members had the opportunity to voice concerns and ask questions of Campus Safety and GPD officers. Attendees were given complimentary coffee, pastries, key chains that featured safety whistles and LED flashlights. The purpose of Coffee with a Cop is to build public confidence and engage in meaningful discussions regarding issues critical to campus safety.

Officers from the Citrus College Department of Campus Safety and the Glendora Police Department answered student questions during the Coffee with a Cop event in April 2016.

Institutional Profile

Citrus College has earned a stellar reputation as a leader in higher education. It is consistently recognized as a top producer of degrees and certificates, and for being an outstanding community resource. These accolades reflect the contributions of students, faculty, staff and community supporters who work tirelessly to create a culture of academic excellence. With an unwavering commitment to student success and a dedication to continuous improvement, Citrus College ensures that it will continue to transform lives and serve as a gateway to opportunity well into the future. During the 2015-2016 academic year, this commitment was affirmed through numerous achievements and honors.

National, Regional Recognitions Received

In January 2016, Citrus College was selected as one of the top 150 community colleges in the United States by the Aspen Institute's College Excellence Program. As a result, the college was eligible to compete for the organization's prestigious Aspen Prize for Excellence, which is the nation's signature recognition of achievement among community colleges. This was the second consecutive time the college qualified for the competition, and it came on the heels of several other institutional accomplishments. During the same timeframe, the college was named one of the nation's top degree- and certificate-producing two-year institutions by Hispanic Outlook in Higher Education and Community College Week magazines. And, several weeks later, Citrus College was voted the Best Community College in the San Gabriel Valley by the readers of San Gabriel Valley News Group publications. The college was also voted the Silver Favorite in the Institute for Higher Learning category by readers of Beacon Media newspapers.

Historic Transfer Agreement Signed

Citrus College and the University of La Verne continued their long history of collaboration when Dr. Geraldine M. Perri, superintendent/president of Citrus College, and Dr. Devorah Lieberman, president of the University of La Verne (ULV), signed a historic transfer admission guarantee agreement in April 2016. The agreement guarantees admission to ULV for all Citrus College students who meet eligibility requirements. In addition, students now have access to ULV academic and financial aid advisors, receive an application fee waiver and qualify for a one-time $1,000 transfer scholarship from ULV.

College Honored for Providing Transfer Pathways

The Campaign for College Opportunity, a nonprofit organization devoted to ensuring that the next generation of college-age students in California has the chance to go to college and succeed, named Citrus College a “Champion for Higher Education” because of its successful implementation of California’s new associate degree for transfer program. The college was one of just 13 of the state’s 113 community colleges honored for leading the way in creating strong transfer pathways. The organization also honored three California State Universities. California Secretary of State Alex Padilla and other legislative leaders presented the honorees with the award during a ceremony held in Sacramento in June 2016.

College Receives Grant from National Science Foundation

For the first time in institutional history, Citrus College was awarded a grant from the National Science Foundation. The $406,321 award was used to fund GP-EXTRA: Bridge to Geosciences for Community College Students. This collaborative project was designed to increase the number of STEM students exposed to career opportunities within the geosciences. As part of the project, students participated in experiential learning “geomodules” organized around four different subfields of the geosciences: planetary, atmospheric, oceanic and environmental sciences. These geomodules included research activities with scientists at the Oak Crest Institute of Science in Monrovia, the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, the Center for Dark Energy Biosphere Investigations on Catalina Island, and the University Corporation for Atmospheric Research in Boulder, Colorado. The project will engage 20 students annually from 2016 through 2019.

The three-year Bridge to the Geosciences project is funded by a grant from the National Science Foundation, awarded in December 2015. The project is designed to give Citrus College students an opportunity to explore the possibilities the geosciences hold for all STEM majors.

STEM Summer Research Experience Recognized

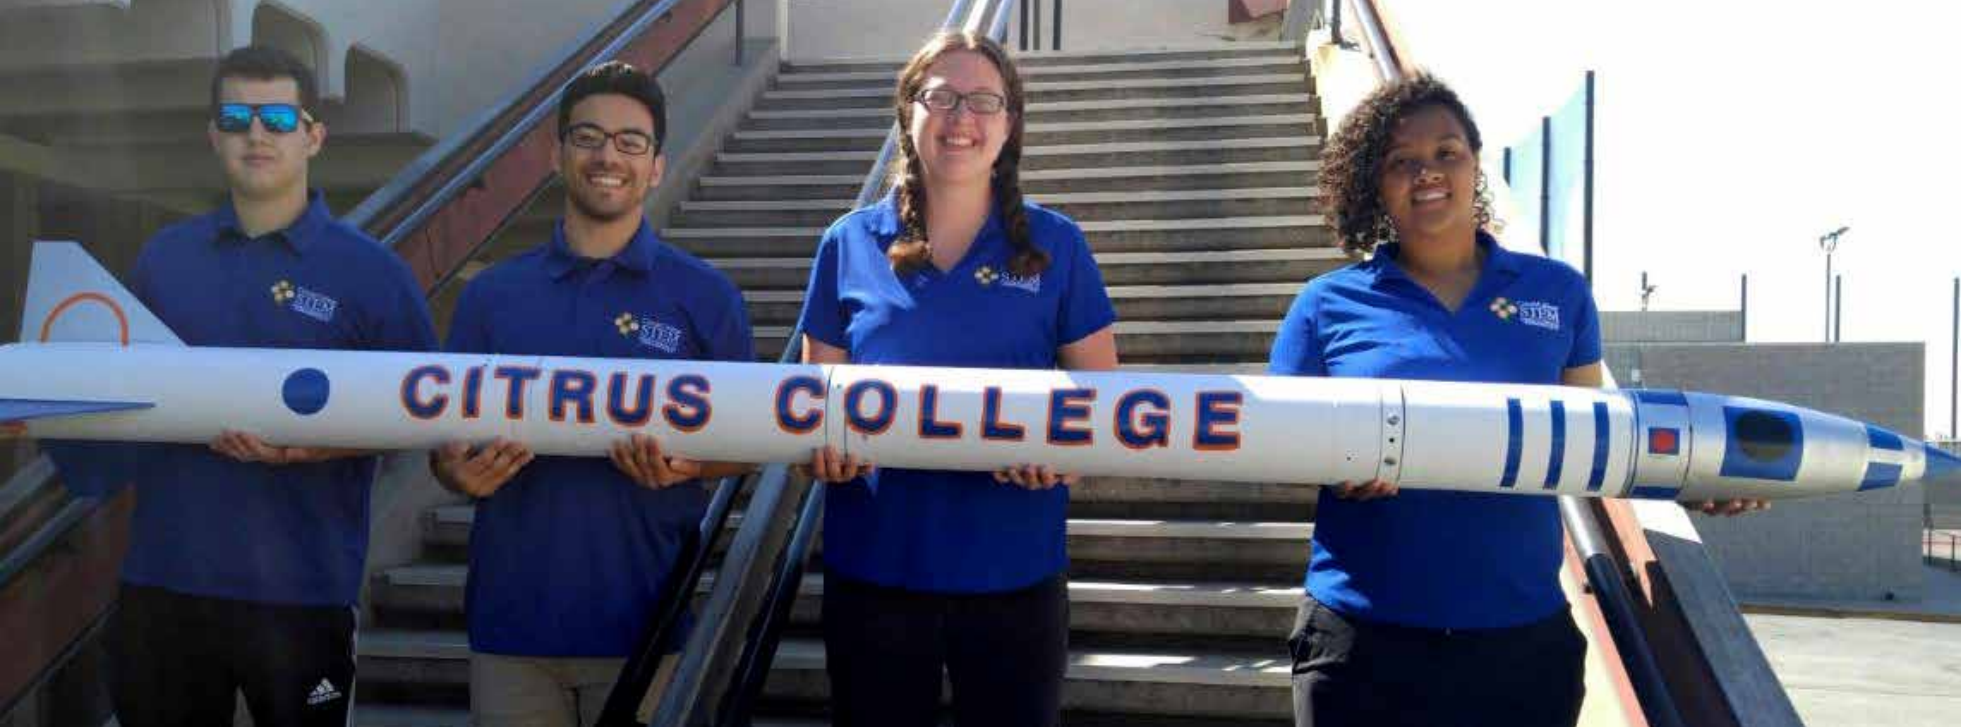

Citrus College was awarded the 2015 Chancellor's Student Success Award by California Community Colleges Chancellor Dr. Brice W. Harris in November 2015. The college was one of two California community college programs to receive the award, which is presented to programs that succeed in supporting students as they achieve their educational goals. Specifically, Citrus College was selected for the Summer Research Experience (SRE) offered through its science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) program. The SRE was developed in 2012 with the support of a Title III STEM grant. It was designed to increase the enrollment and achievement of Hispanic students in STEM programs. Each year, the college places 40 to 50 students in eight- to 10-week, 40-hour-per-week assignments at prestigious research sites throughout Southern California. During the summer of 2015, 51 students were placed at seven partnering institutions.

Fifty-one Citrus College students participated in the STEM program's SRE in 2015. The college was awarded the Chancellor's Student Success Award because of this innovative program.

Student Achievement

Student achievement is a source of pride at Citrus College. Since 1915, our students have become known for their resourcefulness and their passionate pursuit of higher education. They consistently excel both in and out of the classroom; advancing the college's mission and enhancing its reputation throughout the nation. Citrus College's tradition of student success is undeniably impressive, and it expands each year as new heights are reached. From the involvement of the Rocket Owls in a NASA student launch competition to the record-breaking number of student athletes excelling academically, the Citrus College student body demonstrated many levels of academic achievement throughout the 2015-2016 academic year.

Rocket Owls and Galactic Owls Compete in International Competitions

A team of eight students known as the Rocket Owls joined groups from 47 other American colleges and universities to design, construct and launch rockets as part of NASA's annual Student Launch project in April 2016. The Rocket Owls took home fourth place, finishing behind first place Vanderbilt University, second place University of Louisville and third place Cornell University. This was the fifth consecutive year that Citrus College was represented in the competition, and the team's finish was the college's best ever.

The college's Galactic Owls team was the only group from California selected to participate in NASA's international Human Exploration Rover Challenge. Five students from Citrus College travelled to Huntsville, Alabama, to design, build and race human-powered rovers. The Galactic Owls competed against college and university teams from throughout the United States, as well as teams from Russia, Germany, Italy, Mexico and India. The students successfully completed the mandatory rover obstacle race and the optional sample collection challenge.

Students Recognized as Scholar Ballers®

The Citrus College Athletics Program honored a record 125 student athletes, or Scholar Ballers, for earning a 3.0 GPA or higher. The student athletes represented all of the program's 15 competitive sports, with 44 students receiving the honor for the second consecutive year. Since the program was introduced during the 2007-2008 athletics season with 15 students recognized, the number of Scholar Ballers has increased significantly every year. The ceremony drew a notable group of well-wishers. Dr. Keith Harrison, founder and president of the program, joined Citrus Community College District Trustees Susan M. Keith, Barbara R. Dickerson, Patricia A. Rasmussen, Edward C. Ortell and Joanne Montgomery, as well as Superintendent/President Dr. Geraldine M. Perri, in congratulating the award recipients. "The Scholar Baller program is one of the many opportunities Citrus College students have to display their exceptional abilities in both academics and athletics," said Dr. Perri.

Mark Williams (men's basketball) and Jaime Lopez (women's golf) received the 2016 Athletes of the Year awards. Finally, more than 90 students who demonstrated high academic performances were presented with the Distinguished Student Award.

The Beta Nu Eta chapter of the PTK honor society was recognized as one of the top 100 chapters in the nation, among other honors, in the spring of 2016.

Citrus College Honor Society Receives Multiple Honors

Several impressive national and regional awards were presented to student members of the Citrus College Beta Nu Eta chapter of the Phi Theta Kappa (PTK) honor society. Citrus College was one of only a few other colleges in the western United States to receive national recognition. Beta Nu Eta was named a Five Star Chapter, the organization's highest ranking and one of the Top 100 chapters in the nation. It also received a Distinguished Chapter Award and a Distinguished Honors in Action Award. In addition, Citrus College student Nicole Wassef received an award for being part of a Distinguished Regional Officer Team. News of these national awards came after Citrus College's PTK chapter returned home from the organization's Nevada/California spring convention, during which they received additional regional honors.

Citrus College Celebrates Impressive Completion Rates

Citrus College celebrated the academic achievements of 1,425 graduates during its annual commencement ceremony on Saturday, June 11, 2016. The Citrus College class of 2016 was nearly 25 percent larger than that of the previous year, and it set the college's all-time record for the total number of students receiving associate degrees. These impressive completion rates mark the continuation of an institutional trend that resulted in Citrus College being ranked 12th out of more than 1,100 community colleges in the United States in awarding associate degrees to Hispanic students. Azusa resident Charmaine Foster was a member of the graduating class. A veteran of the Army National Guard and a licensed real estate agent, Charmaine enrolled in classes at Citrus College after falling on difficult times. "Everything changed when I enrolled at Citrus College. Instead of living a nightmare, I was soon pursuing my dream." The 41-year-old business administration major is continuing her education at California State Polytechnic University, Pomona.

Faculty and Staff

Committed to educating, guiding and shaping students into the leaders of tomorrow, Citrus College's faculty and staff are the backbone of the college's success. They are comprised of gifted instructors and dedicated professionals hailing from a wide variety of backgrounds. These outstanding individuals create a welcoming environment in which learning thrives. Their professional acumen, impressive knowledge and genuine concern for Citrus College students produce a culture in which collaboration is key. The entire college community is enriched by their guidance, instruction and leadership. The tireless and innovative work of Citrus College's faculty and staff defined the award-winning services provided during the 2015-2016 academic year.

Distinguished Faculty Member

Nursing Instructor Gail Tucker's long history of service to Citrus College was honored during the 2016 commencement ceremony. Gail, who taught at the college for more than 27 years, was presented with the Distinguished Faculty Award. Her career at Citrus College began when she became an adjunct instructor in the late 1980s. She became a full-time, tenure-track faculty member in 1990 and has taught licensed vocational nursing and registered nursing classes in this role for more than two decades. In addition to teaching, Gail has played a vital role within the health sciences department. Her contributions include serving as the skills lab and vocational nursing coordinator, and helping establish the department's state-of-the-art skills and simulation labs. Gail, who says that observing her students' "ah-ha" learning moments is the most rewarding aspect of her work, is a Citrus College alumna herself. She also holds a bachelor of arts degree in sociology, a master's degree in nursing and a family nurse practitioner certification, all from Azusa Pacific University.

Ms. Tucker was presented with the 2016 Distinguished Faculty Award during the college's 100th annual commencement ceremony in June 2016.

New Faculty

Thirteen new faculty members were among those who celebrated the start of the fall 2015 semester at Citrus College. These accomplished professionals joined a faculty of more than 159 full-time instructors dedicated to student achievement. Together, they continue Citrus College's 100-year legacy of academic excellence and high-quality instruction. "Our new faculty members will play a vital role in helping advance our College of Completion initiative," said Dr. Geraldine M. Perri, superintendent/president. "They are all exceptional educators who have demonstrated a passion for teaching and a commitment to student success. On behalf of the entire Citrus College community, I am delighted to welcome each new faculty member to our outstanding college."

New Leaders in Student Services

The Citrus College Student Services Division welcomed two new leaders during the 2015-2016 academic year.

In August 2015, Dr. Martha McDonald was named the college's vice president of student services. A longtime employee of Citrus College, Dr. McDonald first joined the college community in 2004 when she was named director of the Extended Opportunity Programs and Services (EOPS)/Cooperative Agencies Resources for Education (CARE) and the California Work Opportunity and Responsibility to Kids (CalWORKs) departments. She held this position until 2007, at which time she was named dean of students. In 2013, Dr. McDonald was appointed the interim executive dean and was tasked with supporting the vice president of student affairs and serving as the chief management officer of the student affairs programs. She has both a bachelor's degree in psychology and a master's degree in counseling from Chapman University. Dr. McDonald also earned a doctorate in education from California State University, Fullerton.

An experienced student services administrator, Dr. Maryann Tolano-Leveque was selected to serve as the college's new dean of students in January 2016. Bringing more than a decade of experience in higher education, Dr. Tolano-Leveque previously served as director of the honors program at Mt. San Antonio College (Mt. SAC). Her professional background also includes time spent as director of student life and student activities coordinator at Mt. SAC, and student programs director at California State Polytechnic University, Pomona (Cal Poly). A former community college student, Dr. Tolano-Leveque received both a bachelor's degree and a master's degree from Cal Poly, Pomona. She also holds an Ed.D. from the University of Southern California.

Foundation

A Message from the Citrus College Foundation President

Dear Friends,

On behalf of the Citrus College Foundation Board of Directors, it's been an honor to contribute to Citrus College's rich legacy of student success.

During the 2015-2016 academic year, the Foundation continued to build upon its relationships and make connections in the surrounding communities. Enthusiastic collaboration with our donors, President's Circle business partners, Citrus Alumni & Friends Association, the college community and contributors has helped ensure that the college's students will have the necessary support and resources to reach their goals.

When students achieve success and complete their Citrus College education, they take significant steps toward creating promising futures. It is a distinct privilege for the Citrus College Foundation to play a role in supporting the academic journey of our students. The next section of this report shares a few of the key highlights that have enabled us to increase our support of the college and its students:

- More than 200 students received scholarships at the sixth annual scholarship reception in August 2015. These funds help students as they transfer to four-year institutions, continue their education at Citrus College or begin their studies here as freshmen.
- Citrus College faculty, staff and students were provided grants and incentive awards to enhance student support activities and programs, such as the "I Will Complete College" program, which ensures that students are meeting achievable steps as they work toward their individual completion goals.
- Two new directors, Ms. Carol Chaney and Mr. Juan Garcia, were welcomed to our board. Both directors represent businesses that support Citrus College by investing in the President's Circle, which raises charitable gifts to further enhance the efforts of the Institute For Completion. Ms. Chaney represents SchoolsFirst Federal Credit Union and Mr. Garcia represents Foreign Language Services International. We look forward to working with both of these individuals and the businesses they represent to continue to benefit the college and its students.

While it is always enjoyable to share the many ways the Foundation has helped advance the educational goals of Citrus College students, it is also exciting to plan for the future. In the months and years ahead, we will increase our giving opportunities and continue to build and nurture our strong base of supporters. Together, we will continue to search for new and innovative ways to support the college and change the lives of innumerable students.

The Citrus College Foundation Board of Directors thanks you for your investment in education!

Mr. Brian Bowcock
President, Citrus College Foundation

Ludwick Family Foundation Grant Supports Student Veterans

A grant of $91,326 was awarded to Citrus College by the Ludwick Family Foundation, a philanthropic organization committed to positive global outcomes. Having a long, rich and dedicated history with Citrus College, the organization's founders support the college's mission to increase college completion rates. In fact, they specifically invited the Citrus College Foundation to apply for a grant to support student veterans as they pursue their education.

The purpose of the Ludwick Family Foundation grant is to address the challenges student veterans encounter when enrolling in college after returning from deployment. With the help of these funds, the Veterans Success Center (VSC) has enhanced its academic and support services, including tutoring, peer mentoring, leadership development, service learning opportunities, mental health services and assistive technology. One unique service funded by the grant is art therapy, which allows veterans to share their experiences through creative activities. For example, Citrus College student veterans created handmade mask replicas of their faces, which they then decorated and displayed in a public exhibit.

"Receiving this gift has allowed the Veterans Success Center to provide more opportunities for student veterans to transition back to civilian life, complete college and achieve their life goals," said Dr. Geraldine M. Perri, superintendent/president. The VSC currently provides service to more than 500 student veterans annually. Student veteran enrollment has more than doubled over the past 10 years, and graduation rates increase every year.

Superintendent/President Perri, student veterans and college administrators hosted Ludwick Family Foundation Program Officer Trista Campbell on a tour of the Veterans Success Center.

Grant Funds Veterans Success Center Garden

A sustainable, edible garden made possible by a $5,000 grant from The Home Depot Foundation was created outside the Citrus College Veterans Success Center (VSC) in May 2016. A team of approximately 30 volunteers, representing both the VSC and The Home Depot, planted the garden in a fenced-in space adjacent to the center. The purpose of the Community Impact Grant, which was one of 22,000 awarded by The Home Depot Foundation in 2016, is to help students stretch their food budget dollars, make healthy choices and experience the therapeutic benefits of gardening. Student veterans now use the area to grow a variety of fruit and vegetables, including corn, onions, squash and blueberries. To aid in the garden's upkeep, The Home Depot Foundation also gifted Citrus College additional gardening supplies that will enable students to care for the garden for years to come.

Approximately 30 volunteers from the Citrus College VSC and The Home Depot created a garden next to the center.

Distinguished Alumni

Three outstanding alumni received the Distinguished Alumni Award at Citrus College's 100th annual commencement ceremony in 2016. Immediately following the ceremony, they were honored at a luncheon hosted by the Citrus College Foundation and the Citrus Alumni & Friends Association.

Cecil Brower

Graduating from Citrus College in the midst of his career with the NASA Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Cecil Brower was on a team that oversaw the first unmanned aerial vehicle, also known as a drone. He served as a Citrus College adjunct faculty member and garnered several awards from NASA. Over the years, Mr. Brower has also given much to his hometown of Glendora. His community service has included serving as Eagle Advancement chair for the Boy Scouts of America Big Dalton District; as a member of the Los Angeles County Commission; and as band booster chairman for the Charter Oak High School band.

John McHann

After graduating from Citrus College, John McHann began working at Hycon Manufacturing Company, a Monrovia firm that designed and built the first high resolution cameras for U-2 aircraft. This work enabled him to serve as the manager of 25 field service engineers in support of the United States' worldwide reconnaissance efforts during the Cold War. Since retirement, Mr. McHann has volunteered as the property manager of Rubel Castle. He is also a recipient of the Baden-Powell Award for distinguished service to youth in the Boy Scouts of America.

Doug Tessitor

The Honorable Doug Tessitor's career in finance and banking began at Citrus College where he studied business. Mr. Tessitor has been a successful financial consultant, insurance broker and banker for almost 50 years. He was elected to the Glendora city council, and served as mayor in 2005-2006 and 2010-2011. In addition, Mr. Tessitor was unanimously elected chairman of the Metro Gold Line Foothill Extension Construction Authority Board of Directors in 2015. The Foothill Extension will continue the Metro Gold Line light-rail line from Citrus College to Montclair.

Memorial Scholarship Established for Visual Arts Students

Students pursuing visual arts majors are eligible for a new scholarship established in memory of Chris Van Winkle, the long-time Citrus College instructor and renowned artist who passed away in January 2016. In commemoration of the life and career of this beloved educator, the Citrus College Foundation hosted an exhibit of Mr. Van Winkle's work in the Hayden Memorial Library Art Gallery. Visual arts instructors Michael Hillman and Elanie Moore helped coordinate the exhibit, titled "A Celebration of Life," which served as a touching tribute to the 30 years Mr. Van Winkle served the college and its students. A second exhibit, hosted by the National Watercolor Society, featured the late artist's work, from his early oil paintings to his last watercolors. A compilation of Mr.

Van Winkle's artwork was made into a lithograph and made available for a donation with proceeds helping to fund the Chris Van Winkle Memorial Scholarship. The scholarship, which is the first established at the college exclusively for visual arts students, is available through a competitive process that involves students being nominated by a faculty member.

The Citrus College Foundation helped establish a memorial scholarship celebrating the life of the beloved instructor and watercolor artist, Chris Van Winkle (1921-2016). Photo courtesy Gene Sasse.

Charitable Gift from Alumnus Advances Efforts to Increase Completion Rates

A $50,000 charitable gift from Citrus College alumnus, Dr. Ivan Misner, along with his wife, Elisabeth Misner, established the Misner Scholars program in the spring of 2016. It is the first academic support program to be offered by the Citrus College Institute For Completion, which was established in the fall of 2015. Misner Scholars is a highly structured academic support initiative open to full-time students who sign a pledge to complete their associate degree, career technical certificate or transfer requirements at the college.

Misner Scholars must also maintain a 3.25 GPA; develop and complete an educational plan; work closely with their academic counselors; and participate in workshops and activities designed to support educational goals and ensure their completion. Students who fulfill the requirements of the program receive stipends and are honored at the end of their participation in the program. Dr. and Mrs. Misner are the co-founders of Business Networking International (BNI), the world's largest networking organization, and Mrs. Misner is the co-founder of the BNI Foundation, an organization that contributes to charities around the world. They are widely respected for their support of education programs. Dr. and Mrs. Misner exemplify the important connection between college completion and career success.

Elisabeth and Ivan Misner donated funds to the Citrus College Foundation for the creation of the Misner Scholars Program.
