Chancellor's Office Releases Accountability Reporting for the Community Colleges

Today, the California Community College Chancellor's Office will be releasing the findings of its Accountability Reporting for the Community Colleges (ARCC), the first official report of its kind. This ARCC was mandated by the State Legislature in Assembly Bill 1417, which was passed in 2004 and provides for the annual evaluation of district-level performance for California Community College districts.

Citrus College submitted its self-assessment for the ARCC earlier this year. This self-assessment found that Citrus College has demonstrated above average or good levels of performance on the majority of the accountability indicators. Most of these performance indicators have remained stable with minor variability over the past three years. The self-assessment also found that the successful course completion rates and improvement rate for Basic Skills courses show some fluctuation over the years with a general trend of progress. The college recently hired a Director of Basic Skills, an important step in the continued efforts to promote student success. The self-assessment concluded by stating that Citrus College is proud of its innovative educational programs and will continue to deliver high quality education that empowers students to compete globally.

For more information about the ARCC, visit www.cccco.edu.

Recruitment Begins For New Student Ambassadors

It's that time of year again! Although the spring semester is currently in full swing, it won't be long before another successful academic year ends. As the 2006-2007 school year wraps up, we will begin looking for a whole new class of Citrus College Student Ambassadors.

Do you know a student who is personable, academically-minded, and looking for a paid position? Have them attend a Student Ambassador Program informational meeting on Thursday, March 29 from 1 to 4 p.m. in the East Wing of the Campus Center. This "Greet, Meet & Eat," will allow interested applicants to meet current student ambassadors who will be making presentations in their classes.

Interested students can also pick up an application in the Citrus College Office of External Relations (located in the FP building). Applications will be accepted through April 6. For more information, call ext. 5123.

New Help Number Available for Computer Support

The Technology and Computer Services Department (TeCS, formerly MIS) has announced that it has a new help phone number / extension that Citrus College employees can call for computer or network support. If you are having technical difficulties, call extension 4357 from 7:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. or 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Your call may go to voice mail, but your message will be recorded and your call will be returned as soon as possible.

If you need service after hours, or any time on Saturday, then call Security at extension 8611. Security will decide if it is necessary to contact a TeCS employee to handle the situation.

Citrus, APU Bands Face Off
