DENVER MUSICAL

The Haugh will present "Almost Heaven: Songs of John Denver" on Friday, April 11 at 8 p.m. Fans of Denver's homegrown sound will enjoy this musical tribute, which reflects on the country in which the legendary folksinger wrote hits like "Take Me Home, Country Roads," "Thank God I'm a Country Boy" and "Sunshine on My Shoulders."

CCSSE ASSESSMENT

Citrus is in the midst of the Community College Survey on Student Engagement. The assessment—which focuses on teaching, learning and retention in technical and community colleges—is administered in randomly selected classes. To learn more about CCSSE, visit www.ccsse.org, or contact the CCSSE office at (522) 471-6807. A similar survey will be administered to full-time and adjunct faculty.

GOT CITRUS NEWS?

Stacy Quillen-Armstrong, publications specialist, will be on maternity leave through May 1, 2008. Sarah Torribio, adviser to Lirus magazine, will create the Bulletin during her absence. If you are interested in publishing information, e-mail Paula Green, director of communications, at pgreen@citruscollege.edu.

Dean Eric Rabitoy (left) and biology instructor Scott Mondrala demonstrate the wonders of human anatomy to students at Sellers Elementary School in Glendora. Members of the biology and chemistry faculty recently spoke to the second through fifth graders about opportunities in science, generating excitement about the field. Joining them in the program is Mrs. Henken from Sellers School.

Training Offered in CCC Confer Technology

Faculty and staff can be trained in CCC Confer on Friday, May 16 from 11 a.m. to noon. Funded through the Chancellor's Office, CCC Confer allows conferencing and communications using the latest web-based technology. You can hold meetings, conferences, and office hours through this technology without special equipment. You can do the training anywhere, as long as you have a computer with Internet access and a telephone. To log in for training: 1) Connect to the toll-free conference line by dialing 1-888-886-3951 and entering the pass code 185182; 2) Connect to the training room by logging onto www.cccconfer.org, clicking on the TRAINING CENTER tab on the menu bar, and selecting "Log in Here" on the ONLINE TRAINING tab. From there, you will be directed as to how to log in.

Citrus to Host Annual Women's Conference

Citrus will host the Expanding Horizons Women's Conference Saturday, April 19 from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in the Campus Center. Women are invited to expand their horizons through workshops, exhibits and networking opportunities. A continental breakfast and a luncheon will be provided at this free event, sponsored by Senator Bob Margrett. For registration and program information, visit www.womens-conference.org/.

Clarion, Logos Take Honors

Congratulations to the students and faculty of the Clarion and Logos, Citrus College's newspaper and feature magazine. The two publications, advised by journalism instructors Meg O'Neil and Waleed Rashidi, took top honors at this weekend's conference of the Journalism Association of Community Colleges, held at the Wilshire Grand Hotel in Los Angeles. Both the Clarion and Logos won General Excellence, the highest award in the state. These are not the only honors garnered during the three-day convention, which includes an array of workshops and contests in on-the-spot writing, photography, design and more. Both publications won a variety of awards, with the Clarion taking home The Pacesetter Award, given to the top four schools in mail-in and on-the-spot competition.

O'Neil said she was particularly proud of new students in the Communications department, many of whom are first-time JACC participants, who competed successfully. Also notable was the team feature award won by Aaron Castrejon, Samantha Bravo and Emily Rios. The students, who "showed enterprise and initiative," created a multi-media feature presentation using Soundslides video/audio software, a program they taught themselves.

Haugh PAC Highlights Berlin

"Irving Berlin's I Love A Piano," a musical journey spanning seven decades of American history, will be performed at the Haugh Saturday, April 19 at 8 p.m. The production celebrates the catalogue of Berlin, from the ragtime rhythms of the early 20th Century to the swinging sophistication of the '20s and '30s to the optimism of the 1950s. "I Love a Piano" features 64 songs by the creative genius behind classics like "White Christmas," "God Bless America," "Puttin' on the Ritz" and "There's No Business Like Show Business." Admission is $30, $28 for students and seniors.

Study Abroad Opportunities

The Study Abroad program will hit Austria and Italy from July 3 through 22. Participants will visit destinations like Salzburg, Vienna, Venice and Rome. An art history and appreciation class taught by instructor Sandra Johnson and a music appreciation class taught by instructor Gunnar Eisel will allow students to earn transferable units. A cost of $4,495 includes round-trip airfare; 18 nights in hotels; 31 meals; transportation in a motor coach; and admission fees for museums, tours and excursions.

The Study Abroad Program will again offer the opportunity for students to immerse themselves in European culture during the Fall 2008 semester. A Citrus delegation will travel to London from Sept. 10 through Nov. 22, earning CSU/UC transferable units and taking in British life and culture. Financial assistance is available to those who meet financial aid qualifications. For details, contact Lynn Jamison at ext. 8560.
