RE: Note of Appreciation

Dear Colleagues,

Each year in the United States, the first week of May is recognized as Teacher Appreciation Week. I want to thank each of our faculty members for doing extraordinary work to support our students and colleagues.

Throughout the year at Citrus College, our students have the opportunity to learn from our talented instructors, librarians, and counselors, who care deeply about their wellbeing and success. On behalf of our campus community, I want to thank our faculty for delivering excellence and fostering growth in the classroom and throughout our learning and support spaces. Because of your passion to help our students succeed, they are inspired to dream big, work hard, and pursue a path to accomplish their educational, career and life goals.

There is a Chinese Proverb that says: "If you are planning for a year, sow rice; if you are planning for a decade, plant trees; if you are planning for a lifetime, educate people."

When I think about what this quote means to me, I am reminded of the impact that each of our full-time and adjunct faculty members has on the lives of our students. Working together, we are making lasting differences that will positively impact individuals, families and our communities.

I am grateful for the empathy, care and compassion that our faculty show to our students and colleagues. Thank you for your significant contributions and for making the Citrus College experience unique.

With appreciation,

Greg Schulz, Ed.D.
Superintendent/President
