Funding Your Study Abroad
Fewer than 10% of US college students study abroad.

Having this opportunity on your transcript and resume sets you apart from your peers.
Know Your Finances

Know how much study abroad is going to cost—create an excel sheet

• How much are program fees? What is included?

• How much is not included in the program fees? How much will I need for airfare, passport, extra insurance, etc.? Home school tuition or fees?

• How much will I need when I am abroad? Books, food, fun, independent travel?
Take Advantage of ALL Available Resources

Can my Financial Aid can be used to pay program fees?

• Fill out your FAFSA- opens Oct 1 for next school year. Grants like the Pell Grant or state & college grants are free money & have deadlines!

• Talk to your Financial Aid office about your eligibility for grants & student loans. Ask about scholarships.

• Financial aid can include subsidized and unsubsidized loans.

SCHOLARSHIPS, SAVINGS & CREATIVE FUNDRAISING will help to complete your funding

Creative Funding Ideas

• Lifestyle changes
• Virtual ideas
• Crowd funding
• Back to basic ideas

Real student examples
Poll: According to financial guru Suze Orman, what is the fastest way to save up money?

a. Get a part time job
b. Open a savings account
c. Cut down on monthly expenses
d. Work more hours at your current job
Look at your expenses

Are there ways you can cut your actual expenses to save for study abroad?

• Buy a coffee maker for home instead of going to coffee shop several times a day
• Stop eating out, start cooking
• Avoid the temptation of buying unnecessarily online (Amazon, etc)
• Stop a habit (smoking, drinking coffee/soda) and put money toward studying abroad in a “Travel Fund” jar
• Stop subscriptions, memberships, annual passes, etc.
Use your (social) network...

What are your networks? School (current & former), community, religious organization, sports, etc. Everyone you know should be aware that you are going abroad & how they can help to fund you.

Where are your contacts? Facebook, Instagram, TikTok...

Tell your story- your major, school, background. Talk about your future goals- grad school, dream job?

Why do you want to study abroad? How will it impact your future? State some study abroad outcomes (UC Merced study abroad statistics)

Post photos, fun facts about the city, country, & program– include your funding website information. Make your Facebook cover photo a photo of the country. Post your funding info. Make a video of the program/city/country. Make a TikTok video.

Disclose how the funds will be used & why a donation makes a difference

Post more than once!
Crowd Funding Sites

GoFundMe, etc. Some students prefer Venmo.

Tell your story! Upload at least 4 images and videos of you- your life, your studies, your goals, your program, your study abroad city (YouTube has plenty of short travel videos.)

Write a detailed description of your story (see above!)

Explain what the money will be used for- tuition, program fees, cultural activities, airfare, housing, etc. Go into detail about the aspects of the program- subjects you will study, places you will visit.

Post updates & comments. Say thank you right away. Keep track of who donated & send them a postcard from abroad. Send regular updates from abroad.

Share the campaign across social media sites & by email.

Set up giving levels or tiers- what will you do in exchange for donations? Postcards, gift, visit in person on return- how creative can you get?

Remember, if you cancel and do not go abroad, you should return all monies donated.
Virtual Fundraisers

Use your talent- Are you a crafter, artist, artisan? Sell your creations using an online platform like Etsy, Ebay. Are you a singer, musician, poet or performer? Create a virtual performance & ask for donations.

Use your talent- Create a master class & charge for it- Do you code? Do you paint? Do you sew? Do you cook?

Start a 50/50 raffle. Sell tickets & split the pot 50% with the lucky winner.

Online auction. Auction off your stuff, artwork, etc on Ebay

Online yard sale- sell on online platforms like Mercari, Facebook Marketplace, Poshmark

Buy old thrift store furniture, restore & sell it online (Facebook Marketplace)
When things get back to normal, in-person fundraisers

- Mow lawns/rake leaves/general yard work advertise online Nextdoor.com
- Dog walker/feeder/caregiver
- Recycle bottles
- Bake sales: make a menu, use social media, bake for events
- Yard sale: donations from neighbors, sell drinks/food
- Babysitting: advertise online Nextdoor.com
- Spaghetti dinner night, Pancake breakfast, Ice cream social
- Bingo night, game night tournament
- Host a concert, spoken word, performance
- Car wash
- Holiday gift wrapping service
- Paint & Sip
More ideas to make or save some extra $$$...

• Seasonal work- Christmas (retail); Spring season (garden centers)
• Food delivery (Uber eats, Door dash, etc.) or shopping (Instacart)
• Use points or miles accruing cards to buy your airfare and cashback credit & debit cards to save money (program fees)- beware of interest!
• Set up a “Keep the Change” savings account with your bank
• Ask your family to give you money or travel-related gifts for holidays and birthdays
Angelica: Baking her way to Barcelona

Angelica created a quarter-page menu of baked goods and prices on one side and an explanation of herself, study abroad program and goals on the other.

Every day she walked her campus admin and faculty offices to sell and deliver baked goods. She and her sister baked at night. She raised over $1500.

Ada: Radio contest winner

I entered the 102.7 KIIS FM “Ryan pay my bill” contest and I won $1000! It can get very confusing on how to win & how it works, but the KIIS FM website has all the instructions. I submitted my car payment statement via email. Ryan calls one name, every hour for ten hours a day. Once a name is called, that person only has 30 minutes to call back and claim the money, otherwise it's lost. I used my network and told all my friends, in case I was not able to listen.

Ryan called my name at 6am, I was getting out of the shower so I didn’t hear. Luckily my friend, Julie, called me saying Ryan just called out my name. So, I immediately called in (I put the number in my contacts just in case) and claimed my money!

Ada G., Costa Rica Winter 2020
“Even with Financial aid and scholarships, I knew that I still needed to save money. So, since I have a lot of friends and family, I asked them if they could donate any of their old stuff so that I could have a HUGE yard sale. My family asked their friends and their neighbors as well. People donated old clothes, shoes, books, toys, furniture, etc. I also sold and made drinks like horchata and jamaica to sell at the yard sale since it was a hot day. During the yard sale, I also had signs up that promoted that the funds were going towards my study abroad experience and more people wanted to help. I ended up raising over $1500.”

“I also sold candy bars at work and saved as much as I could with part-time hours. I didn’t go out as much and cut back on the fast food. I also did side jobs like babysit and yard work.”
