Citrus College

A small tan Chihuahua dog with large, upright ears is sitting in the cockpit of an airplane. The dog is looking forward, and its front paws are resting on the control panel. The cockpit is filled with various instruments, screens, and control panels. The view out the window shows a bright sky with scattered clouds.

Pilott is an almost 14 year old Chiweenie with a wild, wiggly, and witty personality. He's fluent in the English language and has even learned how to spell some of his favorite words (walk, cookies, breakfast, lunch, and dinner). His ears have been the same size since birth and he uses them to hear the sound of a tomato being taken out of the fridge. He got his name from the fact that as a puppy his ears went straight out to the sides, just like a pair of airplane wings. To this day, he flies around the house and backyard without a care in the world.
