FACULTY AND COURSES

Students must enroll in a minimum of 3 units. Online courses are not recommended while studying in Paris.

Senya Lubisich holds her Ph.D. in French History, with teaching fields in world history and humanities. She has lived in Paris and traveled extensively and is eager to share in the study abroad experience with students. She is an active member of her community, serving as chair of the Historic Preservation Commission and running a non-profit that advocates for historic playgrounds. She has helped lead programs to Florence and Kyoto and is delighted to take students to Paris.

Dr. Jennifer Miller-Thayer earned her Ph.D. from UC Riverside as a four-field trained anthropologist, focusing on cultural and medical subfields, with training and experience in applied anthropology. She teaches anthropology courses that help students learn about other cultures, as well as, their own culture. As an anthropologist she has valuable travel experience and perspectives that can help students adjust to a new cultural environment. She recently instructed students abroad during Citrus' 2020 winter in Costa Rica program. Dr. Miller-Thayer is looking forward to incorporating French culture in her course to provide students with firsthand experience of anthropology while living abroad.
